LAMBETH, ONT.

There are two very excellent reasons why London Majors are considered to be tops in amateur baseball circles. One is Bill Farquharson, the canny secretary of the club,

BILL FARQUHARSON
Secretary

and the other, is of course, Clare Van Horne, probably the best diamond coach in Ontario.

When the Majors were organized after the London Army team had folded a few years ago, there were few baseball minded citizens in London who thought the team would be a success.

But they failed to reckon with Farquharson and Van Horne.

The minute the Majors moved onto the baseball diamond at Labatt Park, they immediately made a hit with the fans, to say nothing of making hits off opposing pitchers. Their sparkling brand of ball and general-all-round hustle soon drew crowds of three and four thousands to Labatt ball pasture, figures that haven't been rivalled by any amateur nine in the province.

The sudden surge of popularity of baseball among the minors in London is directly due to Farquharson's untiring efforts on their behalf. He's made them the most envied in Ontario, and not even Toronto, with excellent playground system, has anything on Bill's playground leagues.

Farquharson, who is the head man of the London playground system, is one of these rare fellows who has a promotive mind, as well as a keen interest in athletics. Not only has he put London on the baseball map in a great way, but his organization of all branches of sport in London is considered particularly outstanding.

London Majors' Manager

It's been said that Claire helped Ab. Doubleday lay out the first diamond, but that's merely a rumor. Although Claire has been connected with baseball in London for more years than he probably cares to remember, he still gets into an occasional ball game when his coaching duties with the Majors allow him. Called "The Fox," by reason of his remarkable baseball acumen, Van Horne has turned down many bids from other teams that have sought his services. Always playing to win — even if his team is ahead 10 runs — Van Horne carries out his duties with the Majors in nothing less than big league style. He's adept at bringing youngsters along and has the knack of giving the more youthful players plenty of confidence. London ball fans regard him as a past master in the art of "ribbing" and "clowning" at the opposition.

Pitcher

Tall, blond right-hander, the mainstay of the pitching corps; a native of Windsor, played amateur ball with Royal Windsor Garage team in 1939 and Welland in Niagara Senior League in 1940. Winter of '40-41, was signed by Cleveland Indians, pitched for Appleton in Wisconsin State League in '41 and for Warsaw, Wis. in Northern League in '42; in 1943 with the London Army Canadian and Inter-County Senior Champions, and with London ajors from 1944 to the present season. "Tommy" besides having good control of his fast ball and curve is an exceptional good hitter for a pitcher and can always be counted on for a hit whenever the occasion is needed for a timely bingle. Tommy is now engaged in the Insurance business.

RUSS EVON

Outfielder

Not for nothing is the ex-Windsor athlete called "Ruthless Russel". Regarded as the most consistent and powerful hitter on the Majors, Russ has been at or near the top of Intercounty baseball batters ever since he joined the Majors several seasons ago. He made one of the most auspicious debuts in London baseball history, hammering out a home run, a triple, a double and a single the first night he stepped into a Majors' uniform. Although he plays the outfield now, Evon came here as a shortstop. But an arm injury that interfered with his throwing fast one across the diamond, forced him to take over in the outfield. However he can still peg them from the garden. A standout all-round athlete, Evon is one of the best softball pitchers in Ontario.

CAM CHURCH
PITCHER

London fans will never forget the supreme pitching chore that Cam Church came through with in that hectic final series with Brantford in which he pitched a 1 to 0 victory. It was a great triumph for Cam who should be one of the Majors aces this season.

Infielder

A local boy who graduated from the London Junior team to the Majors. Don formerly had a brief pro spell with one of the St. Louis Cards. farm-teams where he performed well until an old arm injury caused him to drop pro ball. However he prefers to remain with the Majors. Don bats and throws right and can certainly be called the best shortstop in the league.

KEN McFADDEN

Third Base

Handling the third base spot is of the most difficult chores in the infield, but Ken with his smooth style of play makes the job easy. A timely hitter, Ken is one of the most feared men in the majors line-up in a pinch. He has the knack of "hitting them where they ain't" and his hits have helped the Majors win many a ball game. He has an excellent throw and a strong pair of hands.

HOW TO KEEP SCORE

Half the fun at a ball game is keeping your own score. It's easy, if you follow a few simple rules.

Number each player as follows: (This has nothing to do with his uniform number, which appears BEFORE his name on the score card).

Pitcher	1	Shortstop	6
Catcher	2	Left Fielder
First Baseman	3	Center Fielder
Second Baseman	4	Right Fielder
Third Baseman	5

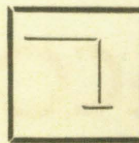

Learn and use these abbreviations for plays:
BB—base on balls; H—base hit; Sac.—sacrifice hit;
foul fly; K—strike out; HP—hit by pitched ball; WP—passed ball; E—error; SB—stolen base; FC—fielder force out; BK—balk.

Examples: F-8—batter flies out to center field; E-5—first on error by third baseman; 6-3—batter is thrown out shortstop.

In scoring, consider each square in the scorebook as a miniature baseball diamond. The lower right corner represents first base. The upper right is second; upper left third, and lower left is home plate.
Now, to indicate a base hit, draw a short horizontal line in the lower right corner. If it goes to right field, run a short vertical line at the RIGHT end of this line; if to left field, place the vertical line at the LEFT of the horizontal line; and if hit to center, place it at CENTER of the line. If the ball is hit to an infielder, place the position number of the infielder at the end of vertical line. For example, a single thru second base is shown by making a horizontal line with a short vertical line at the right of it, and a "4" marked at its end.

For a two-bagger, extend your vertical line all the way to second; for a triple, run it over to third. And for a home run, make it all the way around the square and place an "X" in the center. Illustration shows a 3-base hit into centre field.

When the third man has been put out, draw a heavy black line across the bottom of this square to indicate the end of the inning.
