Scott Dart President's Perspective

The Boys of Summer are back!!

The London Majors welcome you and your family back to another great season of IBL baseball.

The 2011 season ended on the road in Ottawa with little opportunity for our players and coaches to thank our fans, sponsors, volunteers, grounds crew, and staff for another great year. I would like to personally thank everyone who supported London's Summer Team as I know how much it means to our players to have our fans cheer for them as our fans provide the extra motivation that can mean that extra little effort to tip the scales of baseball in our favour to put one in the win column.

I'm pretty sure that everyone who follows the Majors will realize that this season is going to create some logistical issues with sharing historical Labatt Park with the American owned Frontier League team. The Majors pride ourselves on the quality of baseball that we have been providing to Londoners since 1925 and we will continue to offer the same family centric sports entertainment while showcasing the talent of our players to MLB affiliated teams. Roop and his coaching staff have worked diligently to find the pieces of the puzzle to find the right mix of players to create energy at the ball park while also looking to capture the elusive Championship trophy. We have been on the doorstep a few times during our ownership, but we still want to bring the title back to London for the best fans in the IBL.

Thanks again for being a fan of baseball and more importantly thanks for being a fan of the London Majors.

Yours in baseball,

Scott Dart

GM / Field Manager's Message

I am looking forward to continuing a tradition that started in 1925, London Majors Baseball. I am proud to be part of our favourite community team. The 2012 season will be my seventh at the helm as co-owner, general manager and field manager.

What a season we had in 2011. We finished second in the regular season with a record of 22-13. We had a great year and overcame a lot of obstacles. We lost several key players close to the end of the season and this affected the whole team. Even so the boys battled hard and bowed out to Ottawa in the playoffs. Five players from the 2011 roster will start the year playing pro ball so again we had success in developing players and moving them to the next level.

Several highlights from last season include Alan Cattryse winning the batting championship (the second player that I have coached to win this award, Brad McElroy in 2006 - now playing in the Blue Jays Organization), Jordi Amargos, Tyler Graham and Cleveland Brownlee each having all star seasons, continued growth in our fan base, which was evident at our traditional Friday night and Sunday afternoon games, the success of Pack the Park (Mike Riffel and his crew at Sifton are great), LDBA Day (Jim Nother and his staff get to the grassroots of baseball), Oldtimers' Day and Canada Day, just to mention a few.

Two guys that do not get enough credit for all the help they give me are my coaches, Casey Pulham and Jeremy Parking. The hours they give up from their family to help me out is very much appreciated. I am also thankful for all my other staff helping get the boys ready to play, Cam "Snacks" Simpson, Dylan Kingma, Melissa Dobson, Dr. Millar, Nate McIntire and new addition to the training staff Jessie Sibeon. Off the field Anna Gladysz continues to be busy in the community and her hard work is invaluable.

Part of the joy I get from coaching is seeing each young man develop and get a chance to showcase their skills at a higher level. One of the players in regular contact with me is Ryan LaPensee who this year is playing AAA ball in Reno for the Arizona Diamond Backs. I am proud of Ryan and all the other Majors alumni who were able to have the opportunity to reach the next level.

This was a very difficult off-season with news of another team coming to London and calling Labatt Park home. With this we were forced to leave our clubhouse which I have called home since 2006. This, along with its many challenges has made it a tough transition; however I am more determined than ever to continue our long history of London Majors Baseball. Our loyal fans and the community are behind us and I will not let them down - HARDWORK DEDICATION RESPECT.

New Baseball Season Retains Old Traditions

By Anna Gladysz

Bruce Huff & Anna Gladysz at Old Timers Day

Baseball, more than any other sport in our country, is a game rooted in the past and in tradition. London Majors Baseball has been your community team since 1925. While the team is starting their 87th season on the road in Guelph, there's still a lot of action inside Labatt Park getting ready for Home Opener on Mother's Day, Sunday, May 13.

As many baseball fans in London may have heard last fall, the Majors have been preparing to overcome quite a few obstacles to not only survive but thrive as an Intercounty Baseball League (IBL) franchise. With the City of London decision to allow a second baseball team at Labatt Park, they have lost first rights to park scheduling, their clubhouse, their concessions and even a few of their players.

As I have learned over the years, baseball survives its changes with its traditions still intact. With 87 years of London Majors Baseball comes a lot of history and tradition, and the team is going back to their roots. In between spring training workouts, the finishing touches are being put on the new Majors' clubhouse, the Roy McKay Clubhouse, a heritage building that has been used by the team on and off for 75 years. With a little bit of hard work, dedication, and respect, it's starting to feel like home again.

Most of the Majors' favourite traditions are celebrated year after year, not only because they make being a fan that much more enjoyable but also because one of the biggest pleasures for Roop Chanderdat and Scott Dart (co-owners) is giving back to the community they grew up in. Some of their favourite memories and events to look forward to this year include Opening Day on Mother's Day (May 13), LDBA Day offered for free to all kids that play minor ball in partnership with Nothers (June 15), Oldtimers' Day with special guests from the 1948 Majors who won the National Baseball Congress North American Championship (June 24), Canada Day Fireworks (July 1), Pack the Park partnered with Sifton with proceeds going to Sunshine Foundation (July 15), kids running the bases during all the games, autograph sessions after the games, and getting to provide players an opportunity to develop to the next level.

Some of the new players recruited by Chanderdat (also GM and Field Manager) include Eric Cordova (RHP) from Los Angeles, CA who played for Benedict College and was named first team All-SIAC the last two years, Jason Schneider (IF/RHP) from Windsor, ON who won the 2011 Canadian Junior Championships, Richard Corrente (LHP) from Chatham, ON playing at Erie Community College, Rolando De Los Santos Wilson, an import utility player from the Dominican Republic, Derrick Strzalkowski (C/1B) from London, ON playing at Grand Valley State, Chris Stewart (OF/2B) from Brantford, ON with previous IBL experience with the Guelph Royals, Byron Reichstein (OF) is a St. Thomas, ON native who won the Baseball Ontario Player of the Year Award in 2011 currently playing at Texarkana College, and Parris Austin (OF) from Hattiesburg, MS drafted by the NY Mets playing for the Western Major Baseball League in 2011.

As new traditions are built and old ones re-created, one thing is a constant, London Majors Baseball will continue to provide family-friendly entertainment for years to come.

A London Tradition Since 1925

The Major Earned His Stars and His Stripes

BRUCE HUFF'S OFF THE CUFF

The Major was holding court around the batting cage at Osceola Stadium, the Houston Astros spring training facility where he was a guest instructor at a fantasy baseball camp. He was regaling the assembled horde with stories as only he could tell.

"Yessir, that bullet entered my helmet right about here," he projected, holding his hands up and pointing to a place near his left ear.

"It travelled around my helmet and exited on the other side, right about here," he explained.

It's a story Ralph Houk had told many times over. He was a major in the Rangers Unit of the United States army and his near-death experience came during the famous Battle of the Bulge near Bastogne, Belgium in the Ardennes during the winter of December 1944 and January 1945. It was a defining time as the Allies pushed across Europe in their quest to defeat Hitler and the Germans.

What the Major didn't say was the Battle of the Bulge was the bloodiest encounter the Americans suffered with an estimated 89,000 casualties including 19,000 killed. He also didn't mention the important participation by our Canadian forces in that region.

For his combat service Houk was awarded a bronze star, purple heart and silver star.

As a player Houk was a catcher with the Yankees from 1947-1954 serving as backup to Yogi Berra, with a lifetime batting average of .272.

He would become the manager of the Yankees succeeding Casey Stengel in 1961. All told he would be involved in six World Series with the Bombers, twice as manager (1961 and 1963). He also managed the Detroit Tigers from 1974-78 and the Boston Red Sox 1981-84. His lifetime totals read 3,157 games, 1,619 victories and 1,531 losses.

The Major wasn't finished with his session around the batting cage. "Ya know, I had a .500 World Series batting average," he offered. "I had one hit in two at-bats. I was in the bullpen (located in the outfield) when I got the call from Casey. He told me to get down to the dugout right away.

"At Yankee Stadium there was a bit of step up when you opened the bullpen door. Well, I stepped up and I was so excited, I banged my head on the top of the gate opening. Somehow I made it to the bench, dizzy as hell.

"Casey sent me to the plate and I made contact although I didn't see the ball drop. It went for a single and I made the scoresheet." (The year was 1947 when the Yankees beat the Brooklyn Dodgers in 7 games).

This writer was taking batting practice while Houk was enthralled his audience. Then I heard: "I don't care how many hits ya get Huff, I ain't gonna sign ya. Yer too damned old!" All punctuated with a high-pitched guffaw and menacing zit of chew.

The Major died on July 2010 at age 90 at his home in Winter Haven, Florida.

New Majors ready to light up Labatt Park

By Chris Montanini
Londoner

Former Cincinnati Reds farmhand, Henry

The London Majors pitching staff put up good numbers in the Intercounty Baseball League last season, but that hasn't stopped general manager Rop Chanderdat from adding some depth to his rotation as the team prepares for 2012.

Jordi Amargos led the way last year with seven wins in 11 games and an ERA under 3.00. He started 10 of those games and finished with a 7-2 record.

Josh Palmer led the team in ERA, posting an impressive 2.37 in eight games on route to a 3-1 season. As a team, the Majors finished with a .406 ERA, good for second in the IBL behind only the Barrie Baycats.

One of the new names joining the rotation this season so far is American Eric Cordova, who is currently wrapping up his college career at Benedict College in South Carolina.

Another is one of the Majors' more intriguing additions this off-season, Canadian righty and recently released Cincinnati Reds farmhand Mike Henry. The 22-year-old from Sombra, near Sarnia, came home to Ontario after spending four years bouncing around the Reds' rookie affiliates.

"Last year even though our pitching was so good, we didn't have good depth and this year I think we've improved but it's a matter of those guys stepping up," Chanderdat said. "(Henry's) going to be a top of the order guy. Anytime there's a chance to win, I'll probably use (Henry). So I'll use him out of the bullpen a little bit but I'll also use him as a starter."

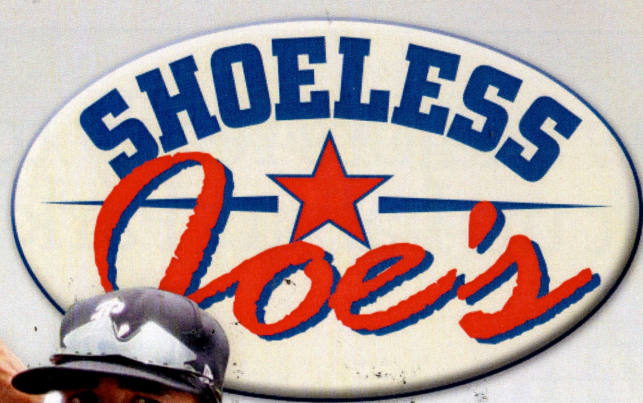

With a 90 mph fastball in his arsenal, Henry should be fun to watch at Labatt Park this season. He was drafted out of high school by the Reds in the 48th round in 2007 after developing through minor baseball with the Sarnia Braves and the Intercounty Terriers.

"I've been home since July and it's a little bit different than what I'm used to," said Henry, who is hoping to get back on scouts' radars as soon as possible.

"From what I understand, (the Majors) run a pretty good program and they've got good players on the team," Henry added. "It just seemed like a good place to start, being so close to home."

With some proven IBL pitchers already in place, Henry said he's excited to join the Majors' staff and bring along with him some of the experience he's gained as a prospect in the United States.

"At the start I was pretty naïve ... but I came to realize I was pretty far behind a lot of the older guys coming out of college," Henry said about moving south in 2007. "It was definitely a big learning curve. Unfortunately it just didn't work out with the Reds so we'll see what happens."

IT ONLY TAKES ONE!
BEING RESPONSIBLE HAS NEVER BEEN SO EASY!

Welcome to the 2012 InterCounty Baseball League season! It should be another exciting year, with the Majors poised to contend again and the reemergence of the Guelph Royals to our league. I am very pleased to have taken on the job as Acting Commissioner of the IBL. Many years ago, I enjoyed the challenge of coming to Labatt Memorial Park and playing against the Majors. Playing in London, before the great fans of the Majors, we always knew that the game would be full of excitement, both for us as players and for the fans in the stands. Many years later, that has not changed.

On behalf of all of us involved in the IBL, thank you to the fans and to the London community for supporting the Majors the way you do and for supporting the great game of baseball. Good luck to the Majors in 2012 and above all, have fun!"

IBL Front Office

The InterCounty Baseball League (IBL) is an amateur men's baseball league operating in central and southern Ontario. The league is independent – that is, none of its teams are affiliated with a Major League Baseball team. The IBL was founded in 1919, and was earlier known as the InterCounty Major Baseball League and the Senior InterCounty Baseball League. The Teams play for the Jack and Lynne Dominico Trophy, as champions of the league. The 2011 InterCounty Baseball League Champions are the Brantford Red Sox.

Fan of the Year Contest

The London Majors are encouraging their fans to ratchet up their support. In order to recognize our best fan we will pick a Fan of the Year at the end of the regular season. The winner will receive a $50 Best Buy Gift Card and a framed winner's certificate. All winners will then be automatically sent to league headquarters where an overall league Fan of the Year will be selected. The name and a photo of the winner (with their permission) will be posted on the IBL website. In addition to a framed certificate, the league winner will receive an exclusive one of a kind IBL prize pack consisting of an IBL hat, T shirt, sweatshirt and leather jacket. In addition the league winner will receive a personally engraved bat just like the one awarded to the All Star game MVP.

Once again this year, the IBL is encouraging amateur photographers to submit photos of IBL action. Fans' creativity is the limit where everything from game shots to candid shots is welcome.

To submit your entries send your photos to anna@londonmajors.com. Selected photos will be posted on our website. At the end of the season, the Majors will pick a winner who will receive a $50 Henry's Gift Card and a framed winner's certificate.

The winning entry will then be sent to league headquarters along with a winner from each of the other teams, and an overall league winner will be selected. The winning photo will be posted on the IBL website and the winner will receive a $500 Henry's Gift Card.
