Locker Room 2 Boardroom Joins Dream Bowl XIV as their Official Athlete Career Transition Platform

New York, NY/Dallas, TX – September 17, 2025 – Cutting Edge Sports Management (CESM), creators and hosts of the Dream Bowl, announced today an exciting partnership with Locker Room 2 Boardroom (LR2BR), naming the organization the Official Athlete Career Transition Platform of Dream Bowl XIV.

The Dream Bowl is where college football's stars shine brightest, but its mission extends beyond the field: preparing athletes for the next chapters of their lives. This new partnership celebrates that mission by giving Dream Bowl athletes—and alumni from past games—the tools, connections, and mentorship they need to carry their winning mindset into life after football.

“Football is only part of the journey,” said Neil Malvone, CEO/Founder of Cutting Edge Sports Management. “Our Dream Bowl athletes inspire us with their grit, commitment, and leadership. Now, through Locker Room 2 Boardroom, they will have a powerful platform to transform those same qualities into lifelong success in business, careers, and communities.”

Building an Alumni Legacy

This partnership places a spotlight on Dream Bowl alumni, empowering past players to continue their growth through LR2BR's innovative resources. Alumni will gain access to mentorship, career development programs, and an athletic-minded professional network where the lessons from the game carry forward into every new opportunity.

“Locker Room 2 Boardroom exists because athletes are more than the jersey they wear,” said Jake Stewart, co-founder of Locker Room 2 Boardroom. “We are thrilled to create a home for Dream Bowl alumni who are ready to take everything they learned in the locker room—discipline, teamwork, resilience—and carry it into the boardroom. This is about building a lifelong community of game-changers.”
