MATCH PREVIEW at KANSAS CITY COMETS

The San Diego Sockers—presented by Kaiser Permanente—begin a weekend home-and-home series with the road leg, taking on the Kansas City Comets Saturday evening at Cable Dahmer Arena. The match is set for a 4:05PM PST kickoff, and will be televised domestically on MASL TV on YouTube and MASL+, as well as supplemental coverage on the National Soccer Network and Victory+, and international coverage on Sportworld, Fox Sports Mexico, and the Unbeaten Network.

The Sockers (12-5-2, 36 points) saw an eight-match points streak (7-0-1) come to an end in their last time out, but still hold a share of first place in the Major Arena Soccer League (MASL) standings table. San Diego is tied with the club that came in and beat them, the Baltimore Blast, on 36 points, with Milwaukee sitting one point behind at 35, in third place. St. Louis (34 points) and Kansas City (31 points) are still within reach of the top as well. Of the contenders, the Sockers and Kansas City have one extra match in hand (19 played to 20), which they will spend against one another on March 27. The top two teams at the end of the season receive a bye in the opening round of the playoffs, with regulation wins as the first tiebreaker.

San Diego's last match was one of their most painful in recent memory, as the Sockers took a 3-0 lead over Baltimore into halftime, only to fall 5-4 in a fourth-quarter collapse. San Diego carried a 109-minute defensive shutout streak (authored by goalkeeper Chris Toth) into the third quarter, but were out-shot 7-0 in a frame that was dominated by Blast possession. Baltimore finally ended the shutout run on Chad Poarch's goal at 11:31 of the third, ending the shutout streak at 120 minutes. The Blast then knocked the doors down with four fourth-quarter goals, including Poarch's match-winner with 1:12 remaining. The win gained the Blast a share of first place in their 20th match played. As such, a Sockers win-out in the final five matches would guarantee them the top spot, as they hold ten regulation wins, tied with Baltimore for the most in the league and at least one more than all remaining competitors.

However, the idea of winning out would require sweeping Kansas City four times in the final five matches, an unlikely proposal against a formidable foe. Saturday's match will be the second of five against the Comets, but the first of four in the final three weekends of regular season play. The two clubs will take separate commercial flights on Sunday morning to get to San Diego, with the return leg at Frontwave Arena set for 4:00pm PDT, exactly 24 hours and 1,334 miles (airport to airport) between kickoffs. San Diego will be laying over in Las Vegas for two hours on their flight home for a 1,430-mile trip. The opening salvo of the season series came exactly one month prior on February 14, a dramatic 7-6 Sockers road win in an overtime shootout. San Diego rallied from a late-third quarter 5-2 deficit to take a 6-5 lead with 3:10 left in the fourth quarter, only to see the Comets equalize on a Dominic Francis goal with two seconds left on the clock. After ten scoreless overtime minutes, Boris Pardo and the Sockers survived a four-round shootout, with Charlie Gonzalez netting the winning shootout goal. Combatants since the glory days of the 1980s MISL, the Sockers own an all-time record of 40-24 against the Comets. In the MASL era, the Sockers are 5-6 against Kansas City, including 2-4 at Cable Dahmer Arena.

The Comets (10-6-3, 31 points) have gone 1-1-1 since last seeing San Diego, but the wash of teams catching up to (and passing) Kansas City in games played has seen them drop from the top of the table to fifth place. The Comets' only non-Sockers opponent down the stretch is Baltimore, who they will host next weekend in a match filled with playoff implications. The KC attack is led by the tandem forward pair of Rian Marques (23-16=39) and Zach Reget (22-12=34), two of the top-five scorers in the MASL. Chad Vandegriffe leads the league with an amazing 53 blocks. Goalkeeper Philip Ejimadu ranks fifth in the league in GAA (6.12), sixth in SV% (.659), and tied-second in wins (9).

NEWS & NOTES

Clean Sheet Chris

Sockers goalkeeper Chris Toth (expected to start on Saturday in KC) authored the third shutout of his MASL career last Thursday in a 4-0 win at Empire. Toth stopped all fourteen shots he faced from the Strykers, shutting out the Fury/Strykers franchise for the second time in his career as a Socker (2017, Pechanga Arena). It was the second Sockers shutout of the season, joining Boris Pardo (ten-save shutout 12/30/25 vs. Tacoma). In addition, Toth had blanked Tacoma for the final 19 minutes of his start prior to the Empire shutout, and held Baltimore off the scoreboard for the first 41 minutes of Sunday's match, adding up to a 120-minute shutout streak from the late-third quarter of February 27 through the late-third quarter of March 8. Amazingly, Toth was not selected for MASL Goalkeeper of the Week for his efforts by league voters.

Salvagio One Away from 200

San Diego Sockers head coach Phil Salvagio is the winningest coach in MASL history, and with a win on Saturday at Kansas City, he would become the first coach in the league to reach 200 career wins. Salvagio has a 199-46-7 record in the MASL, and a 269-55-7 overall mark in his 17 seasons behind the San Diego bench (including five seasons in the PASL).

Missing Midfield

The largest area of concern for San Diego's roster is now in the midfield, where the club's top-four scorers and top-three playmakers are unavailable for selection once again this weekend. Charlie Gonzalez, who led the Sockers in scoring for much of the season and has (12-8=20) points in 11 matches, suffered an ankle injury against the Strykers on February 15 and will miss his sixth straight match. Gonzalez is hoping to return by the end of the regular season. Midfielder Leonardo de Oliveira, who ranks second on the Sockers with 14 assists, will miss his fifth straight match. "Leo" is sitting on a seven-match points streak (4-9=13) and hopes to return to action on Sunday at home, but is expected to be limited the remainder of the season. High-scoring midfielder Luiz Morales aggravated an ankle injury which had held him out during late January and early February on Sunday against Baltimore, and is doubtful to feature in either match this weekend. Last but not least, Gabriel Costa is in Brazil with the Kings League; his return this season is dependent on how his club fares, with the possibility of a playoff return but not the guarantee of one.

Chiles Hopes for Late-Season Return in Farewell Campaign

Sockers' long-time captain Kraig Chiles is retiring at the end of the season, his 17th with the Sockers and 12th in the MASL. Chiles came out of the March 5 match at Empire with a lower-body injury and is not on the travel roster to Kansas City, denying San Diego their most influential player on power plays and set pieces. Chiles had been on his best run of form in the season leading up to the injury, with (3-3=6) points in his past three matches. On the season, Chiles has (7-8=15) points, pushing his Sockers career totals to (512-246=758) points career (including PASL), and (309-170-479) in the MASL.

Best Behavior Needed

Two key Sockers players are approaching an automatic one-match suspension for penalty point accumulation. Players receive one penalty point for a blue or yellow card, and two penalty points for a red card. Defender Drew Ruggles (two blue, four yellow) is one card away from suspension, while midfielder Sebastian Mendez (five blues, one yellow) is also one card away from sitting out a match. Ruggles is the MASL's all-time leader in penalty minutes with 198.

Good Things in Small Packages

Two diminutive-yet-important players are set to return to the Sockers lineup on Saturday, with Luis "Peewee" Ortega and Jesus Pacheco both making the trip to Missouri. Ortega has been in-and-out of the lineup, held to four total matches played while recovering from an Achilles' tendon injury suffered last season, while Pacheco missed San Diego's last game with a lower-body ailment. Always valued for his indoor soccer IQ and versatility, "Peewee" has the ability to play at defender, in the midfield or as a defensive runner, and often shifts positions during a match. Pacheco is having a strong season in his first campaign with San Diego, netting (7-5=12) points in 16 matches, with seven blocks. With so many injuries to the Sockers midfield, look for Pacheco to receive more opportunities this weekend to take a scoring role.

Milestones Accomplished

A veteran-laden Sockers team is making its mark in the MASL all-time records book. Here are the milestones achieved already this season:

-Nick Perera became the third player to achieve 500 points in his MASL career on February 1 with a five-point game (two goals, three assists) against his former club, Tacoma. In his career, Perera is the league's all-time leading assist man (257), ranks fourth in goals (256), and third all-time in points (256-257=513), nine points behind second-place Ian Bennett of Milwaukee (522).

-Midfielder Leonardo de Oliveira earned his 200th career assist on January 24 at Baltimore. He's the fourth player in league history with 200+ assists (Perera 257, Leo Gibson 225, Max Ferdinand 219, Leo 204)

-Goalkeeper Boris Pardo took over the all-time MASL starts record from his teammate Chris Toth (198) and moved past the 2,000-career save mark (2nd all-time, 2,130) while extending his MASL record for wins (147)

-Midfielder Jesus Pacheco scored a goal against Tacoma on March 1 for the 100th point of his career (60-40-100)

-Ruggles scored his 100th MASL goal at Milwaukee on January 17...the league's all-time penalty minutes leader (198) is two away from 200 for his career

Milestones Upcoming

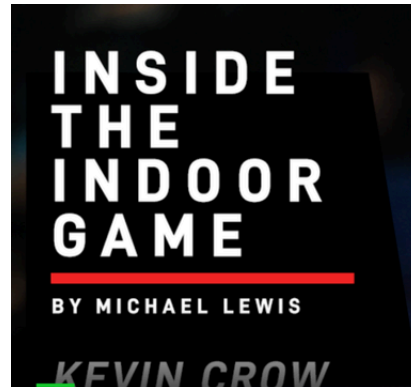

-Head coach Phil Salvagio is one win away from 200 in his MASL career (199-46-7 record); his all-time Sockers coaching record, including the PASL, is 269-55-7

-Defender Luis "Peewee" Ortega is two points away from 100 in his career (40-58=98)

-Defender Mitchell Cardenas is seven blocked shots away from 200 in his career (193), Drew Ruggles is 14 blocks from 200 (186).

San Diego Sockers captain Kraig Chiles made it official on December 9, announcing his final season and impending retirement to the crowd at the annual Sockers Season Ticket Member Event inside Frontwave Arena. The all-time leading goal scorer in Sockers history, Chiles is in his 17th and final season as an active player, seeking a seventh career championship as a capstone to his Hall of Fame career.

“This is definitely my last season, and it’s been a great journey,” said Chiles. “To be a rookie and now to be a veteran is something that I will cherish forever. I still feel I can add a little bit to this championship-caliber group. Hopefully, we can grab the Cup, and I can ride into the sunset.”

Chiles, 41, came to the Sockers organization in time for its 2009-10 restart, heading indoors after a season in MLS with Chivas USA, following up a decorated career as the striker at San Diego State University. As a young player, he helped lead the Sockers to four consecutive PASL championships, winning three straight league MVP awards along the way. In 2012-13 Chiles set new PASL records for goals (56) and points (72). In 2016-17, he surpassed Sockers legend Branko Segota (298) as the all-time goal-scoring leader. Chiles’ game-winning assist in the final minute of the Knockout Game in 2021 helped lead the Sockers to their first MASL Ron Newman Cup championship. The following season in 2021-22, Chiles was named Ron Newman Cup Playoff MVP, netting the game-winning goal in Match Two of the Finals against Florida and leading the club with nine goals and 14 points in seven playoff starts. In 2024-25, Chiles crossed the 500-career goal mark, while scoring 24 goals in 21 regular-season matches. For his career, Kraig has scored 20+ goals in 15 consecutive full seasons (omitting the 10-game 2021 COVID season) and holds the San Diego all-time records with 505 goals and 742 points. He enters his final season as an active player with his name all over the MASL league record books, ranking third all-time in goals (302) and fourth all-time in points (464). He also ranks fourth all-time in MASL shots taken (979), and with 162 MASL assists is two assists away from moving into the top six in that category as well.

PHIL SALVAGIO
Head Coach

Salvagio was born in New York, New York on 02/04/1971 and moved with his family to Florida in 1978. There he stayed and attended Bishop Borat High School. After graduation he attended Nova Southwestern University and in 1994 went on to graduate with a BS Accounting and Finance degree. That same year, he began playing professional soccer. He played two seasons with the Dayton Dynamo from Dayton Ohio (MPSL League), four seasons with the San Diego Sockers, one season with the Kansas City Attackers and one season with the Sacramento Knights. In 2008, Phil decided to restore the San Diego Sockers franchise after the prior league had folded in 2004 and engage not only as owner, but as Head Coach. In his initial four seasons on the bench, Phil captured four consecutive championships from 2009-13, earning Coach of the Year honors in 2010-11 and 2011-12. Salvagio was named MASL Coach of the Year in 2018-19 after guiding the club to a 23-1 mark. Now entering his fourteenth season, Salvagio has a lifetime record of 198-42-1 in the PASL/MASL regular season, and 32-12 in the playoffs. Ortiz has served double duty as the top assistant coach to Phil Salvagio for the Sockers, as well as the head coach for the club's developmental team, SDSockers2. In 2021-22, Ortiz was able to grasp the top trophy in both leagues, as SDSockers2 won the MASL2 championship, while the Sockers prevailed to take the Ron Newman Cup. #1 Chris Toth-GK

One of the most decorated goalkeepers in MASL history, Chris Toth returns home in 2025-26 to rejoin the team where he started his pro career, and where his father's jersey is retired in the rafters. Toth, 35, agreed to a three-year free agent contract to return to San Diego, where his father, Hall of Famer Zoltan Toth, asked to bring down his #1 from retirement for his son to wear. The five-time and back-to-back reigning MASL Goalkeeper of the Year, Toth, a Fallbrook native, spent the first eight seasons of his career with the Sockers, posting a 69-17 record between the PASL and MASL. He won his first two MASL Goalkeeper of the Year awards with the Sockers in 2016-17 and 2017-18, and was a three-time PASL champion. Toth begins his 17th season of professional soccer in 2025-26. He carries a 134-72 lifetime record through the PASL and MASL, and ranks third in MASL history with 107 wins. Toth is the MASL's all-time leader in saves (2,429), games played (186) and save percentage (.736). Chris spent the past two seasons with the Tacoma Stars, winning MASL Goalkeeper of the Year each season. He posted a 22-11-4 record with Tacoma and led the MASL with a .752 save percentage in 2024-25. Toth is one of two keepers in MASL history with over 10,000 career minutes, joining now-Sockers teammate Boris Pardo, and is the only player in league history to win Goalkeeper of the Year with three different teams (San Diego, Ontario, Tacoma). A native of San Diego who grew up in North County's Fallbrook, Toth has earned 104 caps as the starting goalkeeper for the U.S. Beach Soccer Men's National Team, including 11 World Cup appearances and nine times being named a Top 50 Global Beach Soccer Player. He has worked for thirteen seasons as the goalkeeper coach for the Cardiff Sockers program.

#2 Ben Ramin-D

Veteran defender Ben Ramin begins his tenth season in the MASL with a new three-year contract extension, signed before the start of the 2025-26 season. Ramin, 32, brings a strong stay-at-home presence to the San Diego back line, contributing a career-high 37 blocked shots during the 2024-25 season. He added three assists on offense while starting 17 matches for San Diego. Ramin is in his second tour of duty with the Sockers, having also played for the team during its 2021 COVID championship season. Ramin featured with the Milwaukee Wave for two seasons from 2022-24, and previously played five seasons in upstate New York, two for Syracuse and three for Utica City FC. The 6'2" defender has blocked 123 shots over his past four campaigns. A native of Baldwinsville, New York, Ramin played college soccer at Syracuse University and the University of New Hampshire.

#7 Felipe Gonzalez-M

36-year-old veteran midfielder Felipe Gonzalez has alternated between two constant states in his career: either performing as a key contributor to the San Diego Sockers' success, or watching from the sidelines as a player returning from injury. Gonzalez enters his tenth season in the MASL and ninth with the Sockers in 2025-26, hoping for a return to the field by midseason. After a three-season stretch of health from 2021-24 which saw Felipe play for two championships Sockers sides and appear in 54 matches, the 2024-25 campaign saw Gonzalez mostly shelved due to injury. He was held to three matches total in the regular season due to leg injuries, scoring two goals. In the previous three seasons, Felipe netted 28 goals with 17 assists, alternating between the midfield and the defensive back line. A star performer for the PASL and MASL Las Vegas Legends, Gonzalez joined the Sockers in 2016, and has appeared in 110 games over eight seasons, scoring 46 goals with 36 assists (82 points). In 2018-19, Felipe was on route to a career season, scoring seven goals in nine games, before being felled by an ACL tear on February 17, 2019 in Tacoma. In his 128-match MASL career, Gonzalez has accumulated 61 goals and 50 assists (111 points). Felipe is the twin brother of former Sockers player Juan Gonzalez. The twins are San Jose natives and make their offseason home in Northern California.

#8 Drew Ruggles-D

A MASL standout who has appeared in every season of the league's existence, defender Drew Ruggles is halfway through a four-year contract signed in San Diego prior to the 2023-24 season. The 33-year-old left-footer with a wicked shot and a calm presence on the ball, Ruggles appeared in all 24 regular season and five playoff matches for the Sockers in 2024-25, as the club pushed to the Finals of the Ron Newman Cup playoffs. Ruggles netted 12 goals with 6 assists on the campaign, and added four more goals in five playoff matches. In 2023-24, Ruggles adjusted to having less time on the ball than he had in previous stops, scoring eight goals with twelve points in 23 matches. The 2022-23 season saw Ruggles set a career-high with 18 goals scored and 40 blocked shots. The defender featured on the power play for the now-defunct Florida Tropics, scoring a career-high five power play goals. In the summer of 2023, Ruggles was part of the first-ever TST 7v7 tournament, helping win the million-dollar championship with Newton Pride FC and assisting on the tournament-winning "million-dollar goal" with a behind-the-back pass. During his time in Florida, Ruggles won MASL Defender of the Year in 2019-20, participated in the 2022 Ron Newman Cup Finals, and was part of the 2019-20 club that finished with the best record in the Eastern Conference. He's made nine playoff appearances in his previous eleven MASL campaigns, reaching four Ron Newman Cup Finals (2025, 2022, 2019, 2015). Ruggles was part of a Ron Newman Cup championship side in Milwaukee in 2018-19, one of four seasons spent with the Wave. He debuted in 2014-15 with the Baltimore Blast, also reaching the Finals. Drew has also been a starter for the past two WMF World Cup clubs for Team USA, appearing in Australia and the United Arab Emirates. He was part of the million-dollar winning team Newtown Pride FC at the inaugural TST 7-v-7 tournament in the summer of 2023, along with teammates Tavoy Morgan and Gabriel Costa. In his 197-match MASL career, Ruggles has scored (97-63=160) points, with 164 blocked shots. The Fayetteville, North Carolina native played collegiately at Georgia Southern before beginning his professional career outdoors with USL Championship sides Wilmington and Rochester, and USL League Two's Michigan Bucks. Drew lives in Vista with his wife Tristan and children Parker and Remy.

#9 Tavoy Morgan-F

The target forward in San Diego's offense, Tavoy Morgan is the player teammates are looking for to control the ball and turn it into an offensive chance. Entering his sixth year with the Sockers and eighth in the MASL, Morgan has led San Diego with 118 goals in the past five seasons, including 26 in each of the past two seasons. The 30-year-old scored (26-7=33) points during the 2024-25 regular season, adding three goals and three assists during the Ron Newman Cup playoffs over five matches. In 2023-24, Morgan added a career-high 22 assists to his 26 goals for a 48-point season. In the 2022-23 season, Morgan scored a team-high 24 goals along with 11 assists for a 35-point season. He netted four game-winning goals and four on the power play. In the summer of 2023, Morgan was part of the first-ever TST 7v7 tournament, helping win the million-dollar championship with Newton Pride FC. A member of the MASL Elite Six in 2021-22, Tavoy led the Sockers and finished second in the MASL with 39 goals. His 49 total points also led the Sockers and ranked third in the league. "The Bull" added seven goals in seven playoff matches, helping propel the Sockers to the Ron Newman Cup championship. Acquired in a loan from Harrisburg late in the COVID-impacted 2020-21 season, Morgan made an immediate impact on the Sockers' front line, scoring three goals in three games while adding an assist. Installed as the club's top forward during the Ron Newman Cup playoffs, Morgan featured in all seven playoff matches, scoring two goals with three assists as San Diego went 6-1 en route to the Ron Newman Cup championship. Tavoy's clutch contributions included a late fourth quarter game-tying goal in Game One of the opening round series against Tacoma, and two assists in Game One of the Ron Newman Cup Finals against Ontario. The Sockers formalized a permanent trade for Tavoy in the offseason. Morgan is in his fifth season in the MASL, having spent the first two years of his career with the Harrisburg Heat prior to last year's loan while Harrisburg was inactive. In 2019-20, Morgan (5'9", 180 lbs) featured in 13 games for the Heat, scoring (19-5=24) points, including four power play goals and two game-winning goals. In 2018-19, Morgan was named to the MASL All-Rookie team, accruing (23-10=33) points in 24 matches. In his 128-match MASL career, Morgan has produced (160-66-226) points. He previously appeared for the Elm City Express in the NPSL. A native of Spanish Town, Jamaica, Morgan owns a career .324 shooting percentage in the league.

#11 Leonardo de Oliveira-M

One of the great passers in MASL history, Leonardo de Oliveira "Leo" baffles opponents on both ends of the field with his slick footwork, vision and toughness on the ball. With 190 regular season assists in his career, Leo ranks fourth in MASL history, trailing only teammate Nick Perera (243), the retired Leo Gibson from Kansas City (225) and Milwaukee's Max Ferdinand (205). Leo ranks in the top-10 all-time in MASL history with 320 points (130 goals, 190 assists). Entering his 12th year in the league and eighth with the Sockers, Leo is coming off a season in which he finished second on the club with 19 assists, and tied for fourth with 23 points, while adding three goals and three assists in the Ron Newman Cup playoffs. In addition, he blocked a career-best 22 shots during the 2024-25 season, more than a quarter of his career total of 80. Injuries limited de Oliveira's contributions in 2023-24, when he was held to 13 regular season matches but scored (8-14=22) points. In 2022-23, Leo, 37, finished one point behind Kraig Chiles for the club lead with 40 points, and led San Diego with 27 assists, adding 12 blocks on defense. In 2021-22, Leo helped lead the Sockers to a second straight MASL championship while earning the league's Pass Master title with 33 assists. Despite leading the league in helpers and finishing tied for fifth with 46 points, Leo was a stunning omission from the league's two all-MASL squads. He let his performance do the talking in the Ron Newman Cup playoffs, battling through an ankle injury to net two goals and six assists in just three appearances. A scorer gifted with both skill and strength, de Oliveira helped lead the Sockers to the 2021 Ron Newman Cup championship, earning playoff MVP honors for his performance. After leading San Diego in the regular season with 15 points (7 goals, 8 assists) in 10 games, "Leo" opened the Sockers' playoff run with a three-assist match against Tacoma, and wrapped it up with three goals in the Ron Newman Cup Finals against Ontario. In 2019-20, Leo furthered his goal scoring prowess, netting 14 goals in 17 matches (14-9=23 points) while finishing third on the club in scoring. Acquired prior to the start of the 2018-19 season in a blockbuster trade with the Ontario Fury, de Oliveira finished third on the Sockers in scoring with (15-25=40) points in 23 games. Leo led the Sockers with 25 assists. Selected as a starter for Team Brazil at the 2019 WMF World Cup in Perth, Australia, de Oliveira helped power Brazil to the Grand Final, bowing only to the eventual champions from Mexico. Along the way, Leo scored a goal in a 2-0 win over Team USA (and Sockers goalkeeper Boris Pardo). In 179 career MASL contests with Detroit, Ontario, and San Diego, de Oliveira has accrued 130 goals and 190 assists (320 points), an average of 1.80 points per game. Born in Rio de Janeiro, Leo still makes his home in Brazil in the offseason.

#13 Sebastian Mendez-M

A rising young star in the MASL, midfielder Sebastian Mendez, 24, was acquired from the now-defunct Texas Outlaws in a preseason trade prior to the 2024-25 season. After an adjustment period to his new team, Mendez responded with a five-match goal-scoring streak from January 10th through the 25th. Overall, Mendez netted (14-6=20) points while playing in all 24 regular season matches for San Diego, and added two goals and an assist while starting five playoff matches. After the season, Mendez signed a four-year contract extension to stay in San Diego through the 2028-29 season. Entering his fifth MASL campaign, Mendez has recorded (76-38=114) points in 87 career matches. His career-best season came in 2022-23 for the Outlaws, scoring 27 goals with 41 points. Cerda, 32, was selected for the All-MASL First Team in 2024-25, setting career-highs with 33 blocked shots and eight carded fouls. While his physicality, outstanding field vision and ability to win balls out of tight positions all power Cerda's defensive prowess, he has the ability to perform on offense as well. While circumstance and a career-low .053 shooting percentage held Cerda to a single goal with eight assists in the 2024-25 season, he approached a career-high in 2023-24 with thirteen goals and 22 points. In the summer of 2025, Cerda was a member of Bumpy Pitch FC, the winning team at the TST 7v7 tournament in North Carolina, splitting a million-dollar prize purse. #31 Mitchell Cardenas-D

A trusted defender who is counted on to mark the top scorers in the league, Mitchell Cardenas, 34, is the veteran safety blanket every goalkeeper wants on his side. Entering his sixth season with the Sockers, Cardenas is expected to play over 30 minutes per match as the top on-ball defender, one of the highest totals on the club, while not putting his team in bad situations with cheap fouls or blue cards. His success is more reflected in team statistics than his own: in each of his five previous full seasons with San Diego, the Sockers have finished in the top-3 for fewest goals allowed, twice going under the 100-goal conceded mark. In 2024-25, Cardenas blocked 24 shots in 22 matches played, adding two goals and three assists on offense. Importantly, he was whistled for only four blue cards all season, leaving him available to man the back line of the San Diego penalty kill, which took the field a league-leading 38 times, only conceding nine power-play goals (third-best kill percentage in MASL at .763). In the summer of 2025, Cardenas was one of four Sockers who played for Bumpy Pitch FC at the annual TST 7v7 tournament in North Carolina, taking home his share of the million-dollar first-place prize. Mitchell posted consistently similar stats during the 2023-24 season, with 32 blocked shots, five points on offense (one goal, four assists) and only four cards for the year (three blue, one yellow). In 2022-23, Mitchell blocked 21 shots while adding a Sockers personal best (3-8=11) points on offense. Drawing into all 24 regular-season matches in 2021-22, Cardenas contributed (1-9=10) points and 21 blocked shots to the cause. In seven playoff matches, Cardenas led the Sockers in blocks with 18. A newcomer to the San Diego Sockers in 2021, Cardenas started all ten regular-season and seven postseason matches for the Sockers, delivering nine shot blocks in both segments of the campaign, while adding a regular-season goal and postseason assist. Cardenas played in Texas the past two MASL seasons, competing for the Mesquite Outlaws in 2019-20, and the Rio Grande Valley Barracudas in 2018-19. Exhibiting an offensive touch from the back line, Cardenas has netted 24 goals and 40 assists (24-40=64 points) in 141 career MASL matches. His best season came with RGV in 2018-19, when Cardenas accrued (10-9=19) points in 22 matches. In addition, Cardenas blocked 63 shots from 2018-20, including a career-high 34 with Mesquite in 2019-20. Mitchell playing for the Sockers extends a family tradition; his father Alejandro, played for Sockers II from 2001-2003.

Stefan Mijatovic-D

Mijatovic, 29, is in his eighth season in the MASL, and his first appearance for San Diego will mark the ninth team he has suited up for in the league. He was signed by the Sockers prior to the February 26 MASL trade deadline, and has been a trialist at training for the past two weeks. #37 Kraig Chiles-F

A six-time champion, three-time league MVP, three-time Finals MVP and the all-time leading scorer in franchise history, Kraig Chiles is a name forever to be associated with the success of the San Diego Sockers. Entering his 17th and final season as an active player, and 12th in the MASL, Chiles, 41, will begin a transition toward coaching in the 2025-26 campaign, limiting his on-field contributions to mostly set pieces and power plays. He enters his final season as an active player with his name all over the league record books, ranking third all-time in goals (302) and fourth all-time in points (464). He also ranks fourth all-time in MASL shots taken (979), and with 162 MASL assists is two assists away from moving into the top six in that category as well. Going back to the start of his indoor career in the Professional Arena Soccer League (PASL), the precursor to the MASL, Chiles has totaled 505 goals and 743 career points scored. He has added 44 goals in 46 career MASL playoff matches, including the 2022 Ron Newman Cup Finals MVP, when he scored nine goals in seven matches including the Finals-winning score in Game Two against Florida. Chiles twice won Finals MVP in the PASL, in 2011 and 2012.

Consistency and accuracy are hallmarks of Kraig Chiles' career. The forward has netted 20+ goals in fifteen consecutive full seasons (excluding the 2021 COVID MASL season, which only lasted ten matches), including (24-8=32) points in 21 regular season matches during the 2024-25 campaign. Chiles added three goals and two assists in the Ron Newman Cup Playoffs, helping lead the Sockers to the Finals against Chihuahua. In 2023-24, Chiles continued a later-career string of success with his third straight 40+ point season, netting (24-26=40) points in 21 matches played, and six playoff goals in six matches. Aging like a fine wine, the 39-year-old again led San Diego in scoring during the 2022-23 season, netting (21-20=41) points. The captain turned it on in the playoffs as he has throughout his career, leading the Sockers with eight goals and eleven points. Chiles "got his groove back" in 2021-22, adjusting perfectly to a role in which his overall playing time was reduced, but his offensive prowess and efficiency only rose. Chiles led the club in points-per-match at 2.3, scoring 22 goals with 19 assists (22-19=41 points) in just 18 matches. In the playoffs, Chiles led all scorers with nine goals and 14 points in seven matches, earning Ron Newman Cup playoff MVP. Chiles scored the match-winning goal in Match Two of the Ron Newman Cup Finals, as his long volley from beyond the yellow line gave the Sockers a 4-3 lead they would not relinquish. Along the way in 2021-22, Chiles scored his 600th career point between the PASL and MASL. Proving that it's not how you start, but how you finish, Chiles was limited to a career-low four games in the 2021 regular season, scoring four goals with two assists. In the Ron Newman Cup playoffs, Chiles netted three goals and two assists in six playoff games, but connected on the most important score of all, setting up Cesar Cerda's championship-winning goal against Ontario in the Ron Newman Cup Finals. The 2019-20 MASL season being cut short by the COVID pandemic ended some notable scoring streaks for Chiles. While he still led the team in goals and scoring (22-11=33 points in 19 matches), Chiles' ten-season streak of 28 or more goals scored came to an end. A first-team all-MASL selection in 2016-17, Chiles finished with 39 goals (4th in the MASL), and 12 assists for 51 points (4th). In 2016-17, he surpassed Sockers legend Branko Segota (298) as the all-time goal-scoring leader. In 2012-13 Chiles set new PASL records for goals (56) and points (72). Kraig was a starting forward for the U.S. Futsal National Team and is a star forward for the US National Indoor Team, which competed in the 2019 WMF World Cup in Perth, Australia. A San Diego native, the Poway High, and San Diego State University graduate started 59 straight games at SDSU and tallied 22 goals in three seasons from 2006-2008. He was drafted out of college by Chivas USA of MLS, playing one season with Chivas. Kraig, 41, and his wife Stacy have twin boys Brady & Austin and daughter Peyton. Kraig is the Director of Coaching for the San Diego Sockers Youth Club, covering most of North County San Diego.

#69 Luis "Peewee" Ortega-D

One of the hidden heroes of the San Diego Sockers, Luis "Peewee" Ortega is one of the club's most relied-upon clutch defenders and dirty-work guys. Recovering from a second career Achilles' tendon surgery, Ortega is unlikely to play in 2025-26 but continues to rehab in hopes of a return to the field soon. "Peewee" suffered the injury during the Ron Newman Cup Finals in 2025, bringing an end to a season in which he was held to nine regular-season games due to other physical concerns. Nonetheless, Ortega contributed four goals and three assists to the regular season, then added two more assists and four blocked shots in three playoff matches. The previous three seasons were the healthiest of "Peewee's" career, as he suited up for sixty total appearances between 2021-24. In 2023-24, Ortega blocked a career-best 27 shots in 20 matches, adding two goals and two assists. 2022-23 was one of the healthiest seasons of Ortega's career, appearing in 21 matches. Able to slide from defender to midfield as the need demanded, Peewee scored one goal with four assists on the season, adding in 12 blocked shots. He returned to the floor in 2021-22 after missing the entire previous season with an Achilles' tendon injury. A defender with toughness that belies his stature, "Peewee" netted a goal with three assists during 19 regular season matches, adding a goal in seven playoff appearances. In 2019-20, Ortega scored (6-7=13) points in 17 matches, and finished second on the club with 21 blocked shots. In 21 regular-season appearances during the 2018-19 season, "Peewee" showed his scoring talent from the back line, leading San Diego defenders with 10 goals (10-5=15 points). Ortega was selected to play for Team Mexico in the WMF World Cup in both 2019 and 2023, and helped lead the 2019 club to a perfect 7-0 record and a World Cup title, scoring four goals in the tournament. In ten MASL seasons with Chicago and San Diego, Ortega has netted (40-57=97) points in 156 games played. His top year came in 2013-14 with the PASL Chicago Mustangs, scoring 18-13=31 points. Emerging from the San Diego Fusion professional indoor program, Perera joined the PASL San Diego Sockers as a rookie in 2010-11, helping the club win their second PASL North American Championship, including a goal scored in the league final. One of the rising young talents in the MASL, attacking midfielder Luiz Morales is now a huge part of the Sockers' present and future, agreeing to a five-year contract extension which will keep him in San Diego through the 2029-30 season. Morales, who turned 26 in October, came to the Sockers prior to the 2024-25 season in a trade with the Texas Outlaws along with fellow midfielder Sebastian Mendez. He made an immediate impression with seven goals in his first three matches played, including the overtime game-winner against Utica City FC in the first-ever home match at Frontwave Arena in Oceanside. For the 2024-25 season overall, Morales finished with (18-5=23) points in 16 matches played, adding four goals in five playoff matches to help the Sockers to the Ron Newman Cup Finals. In 66 career appearances over four seasons, Morales has netted 89 goals with 30 assists for 119 career points. Luiz was named MASL Newcomer of the Year after his rookie season with the Dallas Sidekicks, in which he scored 22 goals in 17 matches. Morales' career-high for goals is 26, set in the 2023-24 season with the Texas Outlaws. He is a standing member of the U.S. Futsal Men's National Team, and also appeared in the 2024-25 Kings League for Team USA in the KWC Nations competition, scoring five goals with an assist in three matches.

Both goals and assists were career-bests for Pacheco, as well as a total of four game-winning goals and sixteen blocked shots. 2024-25 completed a two-year run in Baltimore for Pacheco in which he totaled 24 goals and 41 points. Previously, the Sockers saw Pacheco regularly as a young player coming up with the Ontario Fury/Empire Strykers, where he performed from 2019-23. He appeared in a career-high 24 matches for the Strykers in 2022-23, scoring his previous best with 14 goals and 19 points. In his 121-match MASL career, Pacheco has totals of (53-36=89) points, 74 fouls and 58 blocked shots. SAN DIEGO SOCKERS 2025/26 MATCHDAY GUIDE - CHAMPIONSHIP HISTORY

The San Diego Sockers are the proud caretakers of the greatest legacy in our city's sporting history. The winners of sixteen professional indoor soccer championships, the Sockers' pedigree of excellence spans from a 1978 debut in the NASL through the MISL, MSL, PASL, and now the Major Arena Soccer League (MASL).

Great players and big personalities have marked the Sockers' franchise history. Legends from the 1980s, such as Juli Vee and Brian Quinn, remain household names in San Diego decades later. U.S. Soccer captain Landon Donovan played for the Sockers in 2018-19. Current stars such as club all-time goal scorer Kraig Chiles, Boris Pardo, Tavoy Morgan, Cesar Cerda, and Gabriel Costa continue the legacy of superstar talent.

The Sockers captured ten championships in eleven years during the '80s and '90s and four straight from 2009-12. From 2011-2013, the club set the United States professional team sports record with 48 consecutive wins, a record that still stands today. In 2022, the Sockers won back-to-back Major Arena Soccer League championships, adding their sixteenth star to a constellation of success. Heading into a new arena in 2023, the Sockers are well-positioned to remain at the forefront of their sport, on and off the field.

The San Diego Sockers congratulate one of the greatest to ever put on their uniform, defender Kevin Crow, for his election to the National Soccer Hall of Fame. Elected on the Veteran Ballot, Crow will enter the National Soccer Hall of Fame in Frisco, Texas, in a ceremony set for May 1, 2026.

A two-time collegiate All-American at San Diego State, Kevin Crow spent his entire 14-year professional soccer career with the San Diego Sockers, performing both outdoors and indoors while the club was part of the North American Soccer League (NASL). He won eight championships indoors with the Sockers, claiming the final NASL indoor title in 1984, before starring for the MISL side that won seven championships in eight years from 1985-92. During that time span, Crow was named MISL Defender of the Year five times, and to the All-MISL First Team six times. By the time Crow retired after the 1996 CISL season, he had totaled 83 goals and 93 assists in 433 indoor matches, adding 26 goals and 33 assists in 118 playoff contests.

“We couldn’t be happier or prouder as an organization to see Kevin Crow take his rightful spot in the National Soccer Hall of Fame,” said Sockers owner and head coach Phil Salvagio, “I had the pleasure of playing with Kevin toward the end of his career and know the outstanding player and person. We are thrilled to celebrate his election.”

Crow has had his number 12 long-retired by the Sockers organization decades ago, and the club will celebrate his election to the NSHOF at a to-be-determined home match during the 2025-26 season.

In addition to his outstanding indoor career, Kevin Crow made 12 appearances for the U.S. Men’s National Team, and played in the 1984 and 1988 Summer Olympic Games. Now serving as the technical director for the Pleasanton Ballistic United Soccer Club, the 64-year-old Crow has returned to Sockers alumni nights the past two seasons.

The San Diego Sockers are proud to announce the launch of Sockers W, a new women's indoor professional team that will begin play this month with the goal of joining the Major Arena Soccer League Women's (MASL W) in the 2026-27 season. The club's formation is underway with tryouts taking place this Sunday at Frontwave Arena, and Sockers W will play two exhibition matches against their partners to the north, Strykers W out of Ontario, on March 22 and March 29. The March 22 match will take place at Frontwave Arena at 1:45pm, prior to the Sockers' match against the St. Louis Ambush at 4pm.

The Sockers W soccer operations will be led by former indoor and outdoor legend Paul Wright, who will serve as technical director. Wright has decades of experience teaching both girls and boys the key skills to develop better soccer, fitness, and speed technique through his Speed to Burn Academy in North County San Diego. Wright will be joined by two former Sockers greats, Brian Farber and Eduardo Velez, on the technical staff, while the operation is overseen by Frontwave Arena Executive VP in charge of sports, Sean Bowers.

"San Diego has the most talented soccer players around, so we expect to be able to build a competitive team," said Wright.

Sockers W will begin with a 40-player tryout camp on Sunday, March 8 at Frontwave Arena, in order to create a preliminary roster for exhibition play. The club will take on Strykers W at 1:45pm on March 22 in Oceanside, and the clubs will head north a week later for a March 29 exhibition at Toyota Arena in Ontario. The summer and fall will bring additional tryout opportunities as the club builds to a full roster and the opportunity to play a complete 2026-27 MASL W schedule.

"We are going into the women's side of indoor soccer with the same goals as the Sockers, which is to dominate and win championships," said Wright, "We want to model this team after our men's team in terms of professionalism, success, and the way the team is run."

Frontwave Arena is offering a ticket package for the March 22 Sockers W exhibition, which includes tickets to the afternoon Sockers-Ambush match, at frontwavearena.com.

SAN DIEGO SOCKERS 2025/26 MATCHDAY GUIDE - MASL RON NEWMAN CUP

The Major Arena Soccer League has announced the 2026 Ron Newman Cup Playoff format. The season, consisting of eight teams in a single table, kicks off Friday, November 28, 2025, with the final regular season game on Sunday, March 29, 2026.

The top six teams in the table will qualify for the 2026 Ron Newman Cup Playoffs. The top two teams will each receive a first-round bye.

Playoff Format

Top six teams will qualify for the 2026 MASL playoffs based upon total points at the conclusion of the 2025-26 MASL regular season.

Teams will be seeded 1-6 based upon total points and will continue to have that seed throughout the quarterfinals, semifinals and finals.

Quarterfinals

Each quarterfinal and semifinal series will play a home and home series with a third game played as a knockout game if tied one win each at the end of the second game.

#4 Seed v #5 Seed

#3 Seed v #6 Seed

Semifinals

#1 Seed vs Winner #4 v #5

#2 Seed vs Winner #3 vs #6

MASL Ron Newman Cup Championship Series

This will be a best of three series with the two winning Semifinal teams. Once qualified, the teams will decide with the league office on a full Game 3 (if needed) based on available arena dates. If the dates are not available and teams do not agree, the series would then move to a Knockout game (Game 3) if tied in the series after Game 2, to be determined prior to the start of the series.

MASL Shield

The MASL Shield will be awarded to the team with the highest total number of points during the 2025-26 MASL Regular Season.

MASL Points System

Standings will be based on a 3-2-1 point system. A team winning in regulation time will receive three points in the standings, while the losing team will receive none. For an overtime or shoot-out win, a team will be awarded two points and a single point will go to the losing team.

The following points system and guidelines will be used to implement MASL tiebreakers for all ties involving two or more teams:

The total number of points accumulated by a team will determine their ranking in the standings. Should teams be tied at the end of the regular season, the following tiebreakers will determine the order of finish:

1. Wins in regulation time
2. Total number of wins
3. Head to Head results
4. Goal differential
5. Goals scored
6. Goals allowed
