THE PLAYOFF PICTURE

- The MASL announced the 2021 playoff format on Monday.
- All seven teams who have played during the 2021 regular season will participate in the playoffs.
- Due to teams playing an unbalanced number of games, playoff seeding will be determined by winning percentage first, followed by head-to-head record and goal differential, if needed. All playoff game times are to be determined.
- The Florida Tropics secured the number one seed and regular-season title when they defeated the Tacoma Stars Thursday night.
- The regular-season champion Florida Tropics will receive a first-round bye. The number two seed will select their first-round opponent and the number three seed will select next with the remaining teams facing each other.
- The first round will consist of a home-and-home series, based on arena and date availability for teams. If the series is even after two games, a third mini game will be played following the second game of the series.
- The three first round winners will join the regular-season champion in Kansas City, where the Semi-Final round will be held.
- In the Semi-Finals, the number one seed will again select their opponent and play Game 1 on Thursday, April 1 with the two remaining teams playing the same day. Both series will play Game 2 on Saturday, April 3 with a mini game played if needed to break a series tie.
- The MASL Ron Newman Cup Finals will take place in two possible locations during the weekend following the Semi-Finals and will be best of two game with a third, mini game following Game 2 if necessary. Should two west coast teams make the Finals, any combination of Ontario, San Diego and Tacoma, the Finals will take place at Toyota Arena in Ontario, CA. If any team other than two west coast teams reach the Finals, they will be held at the Family Arena in St. Charles, MO.
- Every round and game of the playoff format is subject to change due to COVID complications or where the Commissioner finds any changes necessary in the best interest of the league.
